

When You Do What Is Right

© 2002 Rod Hess

The ways of the world can sometimes put you at odds, with people who choose to disobey the laws.
But, when you take a stand and do what is right,
their deeds born in darkness are now brought to light.

Your reward for your courage is isolation and scorn, your life is in ruins, and in all ways, you are torn.
But, always remember — when you do what is right, despite what “man” says, you’re a hero in His sight.

So, for the times when you’re down and want to give up the fight, here’s an Angel Guardian who always keeps you in sight.
She will guide and support you, and whisper advice,
and renew your strength — to pursue what is right.

The My Angel Guardian Light of Inspiration can be displayed in your office or a prominent place within your school or organization. It would serve as a beacon to remind others to continue the fight to do what is right.

The My Angel Guardian Pocket Card enables individuals to take a copy of the poem with them for use when they need to re-charge their spirit during the tough times. The cards can be customized with your organization’s name for marketing purposes and to promote your organization’s commitment to encourage others to live a principle-oriented life.

 For use in organizations that want to foster a principle-oriented culture.

 For use in high school/university settings — campus ministry, social justice, ethics and/or theology departments, etc.

 For use in motivational seminars pertaining to character development and integrity.

 For use (light only) as a graduation present or gift to support a “whistle-blower,” those in law enforcement or an individual being chastised for doing the right thing.
