

Divorce

© 2007 Rod Hess

The marriage that was there has somehow given 'way, to the differences we had and the pressures of the day.
The relationship has died and can give birth to much scorn,
but remember, love never dies — it is merely transformed.

We are all God's children, all born in His Light,
and despite our differences, we must do what is right.
No one ever wins when it's revenge that we choose,
it breeds anger and hate, and everyone will lose.

So, to help us work through those difficult times, here's an Angel Guardian who will stay close by our side.
She will help us make choices so we can rise above,
the temptation to hurt, and instead — show LOVE.

.....

A divorce is a traumatic, disruptive event that has lasting implications on all parties involved. If a divorce is inevitable, hopefully all parties can rise above the anger and revenge, and work through their differences in an amicable way — in the spirit of God's love.

 For use in divorce/mediation services.

 Use in post-divorce support groups/counseling programs.